Put house numbering on the list

We make all sorts of improvements. We pave streets. We beautify our community. We construct housing projects. We install new traffic controls. We build schools.

And we are declared Georgia's Champions of Champion Home Towns.

And it's strange that, while prospecting around for projects to improve our community, there's one that keeps getting pushed to the end of the list.

And it's such a simple thing.

But one which would mean much to many.

Just a number on each home and business in Statesboro.

Sounds simple enough, doesn't it?

And we're sure that you would be happy to buy a number and tack it up over your doorway, or put it on a marker on your lawn.

But the catch is—you don't know what your number is, or should be.

On Friday of last week we listened to a complaint of a businessman here in Statesboro whose business, in part, depends upon the quick, sure delivery of packages ordered from him by phone.

He gives his delivery boy involved and lengthy directions on how to reach the home of some customer. Oftentimes the delivery boy misses it and has to depend upon making inquiries in the neighborhood.

Calls to the police department involve vague descriptions of how to get to places where police may be needed.

Calls to the fire department involve lengthy directions of how to get to where a fire breaks out.

Every month new homes are finished and people move in and live in them, unidentified by number.

A study of the telephone directory reveals scores of homes identified only by street, and telephone number, with no house number.

This year the Telephone Company will change over to the new dial phone system. A completely new telephone directory will be published. It would be a wonderful service if by the time the directory goes to press every home, every business, every public building in Statesboro could be properly identified by street and number.

It would help the individual. It would help business. It would help the police department. It would help strangers. It would help visitors.

It would help Statesboro.

We would like to see this moved high up on the list of things to be done to keep Statesboro the Champion of Champions we claim to be.

Our Boy Scouts...

The first meeting of the Candler - Bulloch - Screven district of the Coastal Empire Council was held Sunday afternoon, January 24th, at the Methodist Church.

Mr. Alex Boyer, of Savannah, chairman of the C.B.S. district, called the meeting to order with the following scouts present: Mr. Alex Boyer, F. F. Talkington and Mr. Danner of Savannah; Rev. J. F. Wilson, Leiland Wilson, Dr. Fielding Russell, Al Sutherland and John A. Gee of Statesboro; Scout Field Executive Ed Tally was present to take down the minutes for the Coastal Empire Council and help officiate at the meeting.

Chairman Boyer appointed the six operating committees for 1954 as follows: District Commissioner, Mr. Leiland Wilson, Statesboro; district organization and extension, Mr. Jim Jordan, Savannah; district leadership and training, Rev. J. F. Wilson, Statesboro; district advancement chairman, John A. Gee, Statesboro; district health and safety chairman, Dr. Gerald Hodges, Savannah; district camping and activities chairman, Dekle Banks and district finance chairman, Dr. Fielding Russell, both of Statesboro. Neighborhood commissioners, Mr. F. F. Talkington for Savannah and John A. Gee for Bulloch county.

Chairman Boyer explained the operation of each of the activities in scouting and charged each chairman with his respective duties. The process of outlining a complete scouting year was commenced and will be completed at the next district meeting in February.

Scout Field Executive Ed Tally, fully outlined the Forest Conservation program, which will be held at Camp Brannen on February 12th and 13th. This is a large scale project with noted naturalists and State Forest Service participating to conserve the timber and plant new pine trees at Camp Brannen. There is a complete program for the Boy Scouts during these two days in which they will learn each phase of forestry and how to properly conserve our timber resources.

Mr. Tally also stated that President Eisenhower suggested in his talk that our scouts undertake forest conservation this year. We feel that our C.B.S. district is the first to start this program in Georgia.

It was first started on a council basis for the Coastal Empire Council, however, every council in the southeastern region has been invited to attend this program at Camp Brannen near Metter, Ga., for these two days.

The C.B.S. district has agreed to meet the fourth Sunday of each month at the Methodist Church in Statesboro until other plans are made.

He numbered his friends by the thousands, but there were few to whom he endeared himself any more than the newspapermen of the First District. A faithful attendant at the annual press-legislative meetings, he offered freely of his services and counsel. There, as in everything else, he proved afresh his right to the coveted accolade of "good citizen." Unselfish and unaffected he was truly a man who could walk equally at ease among the high or the humble.

DREAM OF THE OPEN ROAD

Only a parent knows

At a banquet in Atlanta on Wednesday night of last week Dr. Leila Denmark, wife of Dr. Eustace Denmark, an officer in the Federal Reserve Bank, and daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Eb Denmark of Port, was named "Woman of the Year" in Atlanta, an honor bestowed annually on Atlanta's most outstanding woman.

Here is a story written by Celestine Sibbey in the Atlanta Journal-Constitution on Sunday, January 31.

"Selection of Dr. Leila Denmark as Atlanta's Woman of the Year for 1953 the other night was an act to make us all proud.

"Only a frantic parent with a sick child knows how to measure Dr. Denmark's greatness—and there are so many of them, so very many of them who have her measure.

"You'd have to see them gathered down there in the Presbyterian Church, the shabby, underfunded, discouraged men and women holding flushed, feverish little ones in their arms. Some of them would be before asking for help for themselves but for their baby... for the little one, teething restlessly, eyes glazed with pain, voice thin and weak and fretful, they swallow whatever pride is left to them and go out in search of help.

"Dr. Denmark was almost alone.

ways there to give it. For 25 years she has given one or two days a week of her time—an impressive record in any profession. To see her there, moving calmly about in her white coat, her dark eyes bright with sympathy and compassion and her slender hands competent, has comforted so many frightened parents. To have a sick child is a frightening enough thing for anybody but when you haven't a dime to pay for treatment or to buy special food, much less medicine, humiliation is added to your already crushing sense of inadequacy.

DOCTORS KNOW

"Doctors know that and many of them, like Dr. Denmark, give freely of their time and skill with no thought of cost. Which makes Dr. Denmark's honor seem especially fitting. She, in a way, has been honored for all the selfless men and women in her profession who have saved lives of little children without thought of gain.

I think perhaps Dr. Denmark's humility is one thing which makes people at the Woman of the Year dinner so glad to see her have top award the other night. Her little talk on the smart and appreciative WOTY judges, who plainly knew a good citizen when they see one."

"The only reason we can figure out for men liking bathing is that they make such a ritual of it. They make such a ritual of it that they don't think about it enough time to take more than once a week."

A wife who cleans the bathroom can testify to the amount of water that is sloshed on the floor, the dwindled bar of soap and heap of wet towels, after her husband's bath.

Of course this dislike of bathing may be a childhood carry-over of the Saturday night baths in the zinc tub by the fire wood range in the kitchen. Many a back-side has been scorched on that wood stove when it was backed up to the stove for warmth and stepping out of the water, too, there were the burns from the kettle of hot water that was added to the cooling water in the tub.

We wives are in a dilemma about this masculine dislike for hazy bathing. We would welcome any enlightenment on the subject. If we're all wrong, let us know.

Charles Holler, who works with the United States Internal Revenue Department, with an office in the Statesboro Post Office, is proud of his grandmother, his mother's mother, Mrs. Jane Rockett of Conover, North Carolina, who celebrated her 97th birthday on December 30, of last year.

Mrs. Rockett finds "things easier now, but folks have no better time now than we had then," as she recalls the past with her family gathered around her on her birthday.

Living to be one hundred years of age does not bother Mrs. Rockett, who says "I have never wished for that. I am glad my time is in his hands and I feel I am ready when He is ready to take me."

Here is sweet resignation, implicit faith, and we join Charles in his pride of his grandmother.

Why do men have to take a bath—is the question

By VIRGINIA RUSSELL

To many, bathing is a luxury. To step into a tub of warm water daily is really a blessing not to be looked. We have often heard out "when blue, take a bath. One simply cannot be too while bathing."

Bathing is a means of relaxation. It helps a person "go." After a bath there is renewed energy, renewed spirit, and renewed vigor. A bath can give one the assurance he needs. A lady can even wear an old dress and feel confident in herself if she is just out of a tub of warm water.

Yes, in fact, if we ever to face a firing squad and allowed one last request, we think we'd ask permission to take a good, long invigorating bath. We believe we could be straight and courageously forward.

If this be true of bathing why does it seem to be a feminine truth? Why do men so allergic to bathing? It is an attitude, rather than a truth? Or, do men simply think that they are cleaner than women? Or, do they possess that self assurance that does not need to seek it in a bath tub? Or do we know the wrong men?

We knew of one wife who vowed she had to trick her husband in the bathroom when she had a tub of water waiting. After she got him inside she locked him in and guarded with a baseball bat until he relented and bathed.

We know of another man who constantly argues with his wife that bathing is injurious to his health. He swears it washes away the natural oils of his skin and leaves him wide open for any horrible infection that is floating about in the air.

It seems that men not only feel themselves cleaner than women but they also feel that the clothes they wear stay on for days. Washing machines wear out clothes, so why waste money washing clothes when they don't need it? One husband was very hurt by this wife because she chided him about his under clothes. "What would the nurses in the hospital think of you if you had an heart attack with this underwear on?" asked a nagging her husband to be clean. He pretended that he was more concerned about what the nurses would think of his underwear than his having the heart attack.

The only reason we can figure out for men liking bathing is that they make such a ritual of it. They make such a ritual of it that they don't think about it enough time to take more than once a week."

A wife who cleans the bathroom can testify to the amount of water that is sloshed on the floor, the dwindled bar of soap and heap of wet towels, after her husband's bath.

T.C.'s Seven Past Beauty Queens Are Invited to Homecoming Event; Miss T.C. to Participate in Parade

The Bulloch Herald, Statesboro, Ga.
THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1954

Brooklet News

Two Circles of Brooklet Baptist Church entertain at W. M. S. social

By Mrs. John A. Robertson

Monday night the members of the Brooklet Baptist Church, the former Miss Dean Howard Waycross, '47; Jean Hodges of Greenville, '48; Betty Fuller of McRae, '49; Lorraine Morgan of Eggleston, '50; Jo Starr of Greenville, '51; Mrs. Betty Hendrix Fabris of Metter, '52; and Vivian Jones of Jesus, '53, have all been invited to attend the Homecoming parade on the morning of February 13.

Since the Beauty Review has been postponed to February 12, the day before the Homecoming festival, this will be a gala weekend; all alumni are especially invited to arrive early enough to attend the review. The Beauty Review will be at 8:15 p. m. in the College Auditorium on Friday night, February 12; but Homecoming will officially begin with registration from 9:00 to 10:30 in the parlors of East Hall. Kappa Delta Pi will be in charge of this. At 11:00 the parade of bands, queens and floats created by campus clubs will begin. First, second and third place prizes for floats and for dormitory decorations will be awarded on the basis of originality and cleanliness of theme. These prizes will be awarded at the half of the basketball game that night.

At 12:30 the president's barbeque will be given for alumni and their families and students. This will be at the college. The afternoon schedule will be filled by an alumni meeting in the college auditorium at 2:00 and an entertainment by each of the divisions of their returning majors.

At 4:00 Howell Cone Hall will be dedicated, followed by open house and a tea. Supper will be at 5:30 in the dining hall and at 7:00 a fireworks extravaganza will be exploded on the front campus. The highlight of the evening will be a basketball game between North Georgia and T. C. which will begin at 8:30. Featured during the half will be a show by the basketball band and majorettes. Following the game will be a dance sponsored by the senior class of '54. Music will be provided by the Professors, college dance band.

The department store of W. O. Denmark was robbed again last week. About two months ago burglars made entrance through a back door, broke open the safe, took more than $2,000 in cash in addition to many articles of merchandise.

It is an unsolved question how last week's robbers got in the building. Officers believe now that two or more people hid in the building, probably on the second floor, as no doors or windows were broken. Merchandise, including several suits of men's clothing, cigarettes and other articles, and about $30 in cash, are among the missing articles.

Sylvester Parrish, who underwent a serious operation at Warren Candler Hospital, Savannah, is now improving. Miss Frances Lee presented her fifth grade pupils in an Health specialists warn against being "taken in" by the many useless, and sometimes dangerous, quick-reducing nostrums on the market today.

Every home should have a well-stocked first aid kit and at least one member in the family should know how to use each item in the kit.

Thursday afternoon from 1 to 4 p. m. A discussion on the agricultural outlook was a part of the three Farm Bureau programs last week.

Every year tobacco farmers lose thousands of dollars by ventilating their barns with old type ridge ventilators or by knocking out the gable ends of the barns for ventilation. This type of ventilation causes the use of from 25% to 50% more oil than is required when you use the Silent Flame controlled ventilator. Additional losses occur from loss in weight and poorer quality.

Get EXTRA PROFITS From YOUR Tobacco this year with Silent Flame CONTROLLED VENTILATORS

Completely assembled — Ready to install — Pays for itself many times in a single season!

Reduces oil consumption by as much as 25% to 50% depending on construction of your barn.

Thoroughly kills all stems. You get the right amount of ventilation at the right time.

Individual door control from outside the barn. (No hot barns to enter).

Constructed of heavy gauge, longer lasting galvanized steel.
